

Welcome READERS
You're in For FUN!!
Children's And Young- Adults Novels

by I V Everts

Phone 440-241-3126

Email : sizemore3630@aol.com

We have a collection of stories and a riveting novel at A 2 Z Press!
Author, I V Everts created the delightful titles we want to offer this week.

'Golden Tales : Havoc in Rome, and Chasing Nightmares in English and Italian are well-written and entertaining stories for children, teens, young adults- readers of all ages really - that are whimsical and clever - entertaining and fun for readers of all ages.

Come check out the stories!

Golden Tales

Havoc in Rome

L.V. Everts

In Golden Tales : Havoc in Rome, we not only take a walk through the streets and famous sites in Rome, we accompany Ingrid and her Golden Retriever, Tess, as Tess gets into all sorts of situations!

We begin the Villa Borghese – which is a garden park with many landmarks, sculptures, and a museum and a terrace with a view.

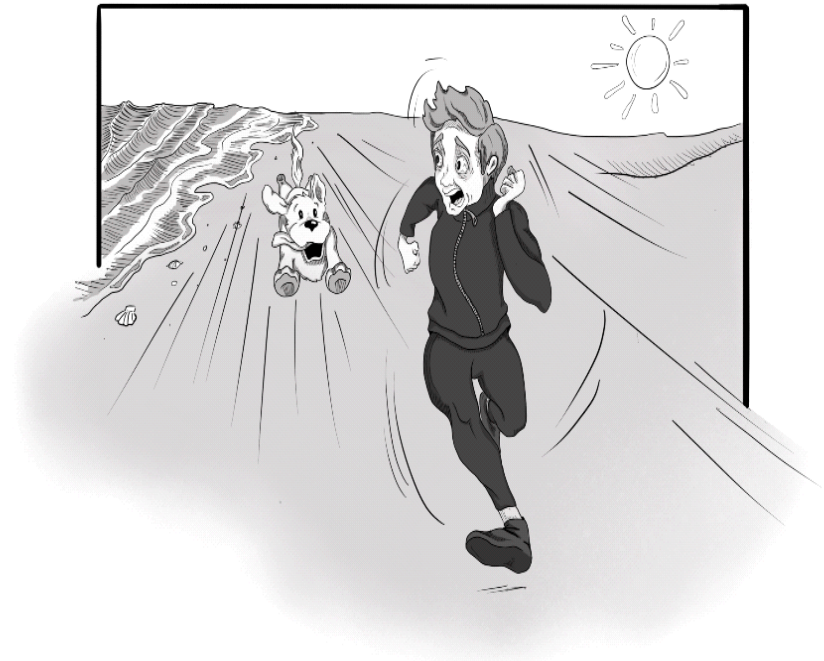

Sunset from the Pancian Terrace

“The lady was less than happy about the pet mishap, but Tess has a great story to share in Golden Tales

And, while walking through the Park one day, Tess decided to grab a lady’s handbag! See how it turns out.

“While walking along the sea at Tor San Lorenzo north of Anzio - which is better known for the Battle of Anzio that took place during WWII – and recalling our very important Roman history and, very suddenly, we were interrupted as a jogger, who seemed to come from nowhere, came our way!!!”

Tess finding it great fun to run with-or after- a beach jogger!

The famous Trevi Fountain is one of the wonderful fountains in Rome.

And away the two go as Tess takes a dip in one of the fountains around town! Check out her run-in with the police.

Come, see all the adventures that Tess manages to have around Rome as I V Everts shows the famous sites of the Eternal city to every reader!

Tess enjoying her favorite treats.

If you are into good solid thrillers, Chasing Nightmares is the book for you -
Giovanni Lombardo Radici, Actor, Writer and Director

Chasing Nightmares

I.V. Everts

Chasing Nightmares is a riveting and well-written story about two girls who have grown up together and share a dream.

“Un libro avvincente, la storia di un mistero che sarà svelato grazie alle grande e ‘speciale’ amicizia fra due ragazze intraprendenti e coraggiose.”
Alessandra Pannelli – Attrice, Scrittrice, Regista e ‘figlia d’arte’

Inseguendo gli Incubi

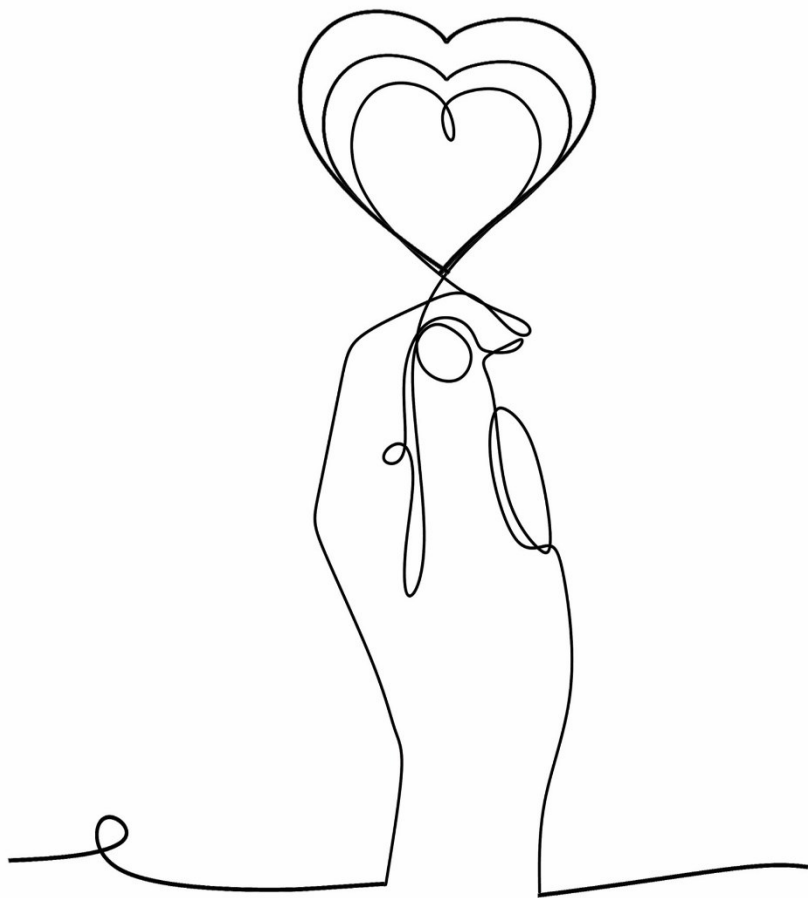

I.V. Everts

All the magic begins
when the girls are raised in an orphanage!

O u f t o a r c o f e . f e

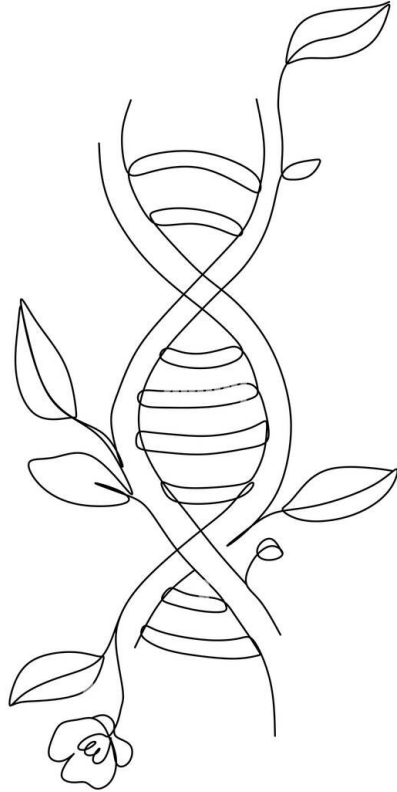

They share a common bond.

After life at the orphanage, the girls share an apartment! They also share the same nightmare and doctor who appears to be watching over them.

The girls run into some trouble, it seems someone's trying to kill them!

Through many stressful situations, the girls begin to unravel the truth about their past and the mother did not know.

Their search for the truth about themselves leads them to the truth about their mother.

And the story of hidden secrets and covering up one's unlawful and unethical acts continues in the pages of Chasing Nightmares!

And the girls nearly escape one direct threat
after another!

The two are committed to each other and committed to finding the facts.

But they do find the truth and the bond they share is more than one of just growing up together in an orphanage!

I am Ingrid. I am originally from the Netherlands. I have traveled the world, but mostly I have made my home in London. London is where I met my husband, Alberto, who took me to Rome, Italy where we have been living for over 15 years.

My biggest buddy in Rome is Texel or, as I at times, affectionately call her, Tess. After the loss of our previous Golden, Neve, (which means “Snow” in Italian) I felt something missing in our lives. We went to the beach, but did not enjoy it. We took a vacation, but got bored after only one short week.

My social life in Rome was down to zero before I found Texel.

Although my husband was not yet ready, I heard through a friend that her neighbor had a litter of Golden puppies. I persuaded my husband to go and have a look. So, we took the car and drove into the countryside east of Rome, where a lady breeds wonderful and lovely Golden Retrievers and Newfoundlanders.

Well, as everyone knows, whoever goes to have a look at a litter of these little fluffs and does not fall in love, must have a gene (or two) missing. I picked out the one that came running to me. Her name is Texel.

Texel is actually an Island in the Netherlands, which is pronounced, ‘Tessel.’ In the very beginning, I knew my husband felt he was betraying our previous Golden, Neve, who passed away several years before, but now Texel and my husband are the biggest friends. An added bonus is that my social connections are back to normal. Texel is a people magnet. (At least a 'dog people' one.)

Along with my dog, Texel, and all our adventures in Rome, I work as a Life Purpose Coach and teach English as a foreign language.

I wrote Golden Tales to share some of the happy memories I am making with Texel and share the beauty of our homeland, Rome.